Whatever the signal, it's always green

Introducing the Siemens ST900 ELV – the extra low voltage, environmentally friendly successor to the ST800.

The ST900 ELV includes all its predecessor's benefits but also packs in a new advanced architecture. When coupled with Helios ELV LED signal heads, regulatory signs and solar sensors, it provides a complete ELV system. And as well as reducing power consumption and energy costs, since it requires no mains voltage on the street, it's also much safer.

See it demonstrated at Traffex, Stand C1, NEC, Birmingham. 17-19 April 2007
